Noble Manhattan Coaching Ltd was established in 1993 by Mr. Gerard O'Donovan Founder and CEO, who has a Masters in Psychology and is a world-renowned Trainer and Coach.

The company has grown to become one of the largest and most successful Coaching Training organisations in the World, operating in 31 countries. Noble Manhattan Coaching stands for excellence. It is a multi-award winning organisation with a well-earned reputation for delivering the highest quality coaching courses and for creating superb coaches. What is unique about Noble Manhattan is that it is a global organisation with a heart.

Students are truly welcomed into the Noble Manhattan 'family' and not only receive the very best in training from highly qualified and experienced trainers and mentors, they receive ongoing help and support after they have trained.

Achieving and maintaining high standards is paramount and every NMC coaching course is accredited or recognised by some of the leading accreditation bodies:

- the IAPC&M (International Association for Professional Coaching and Mentoring);
- ILM (Institute of Leadership and Management);
- ILM City & Guilds; ICF (International Coach Federation); and the
- IRCM (International Regulator for Coaching and Mentoring).

Noble Manhattan Coaching offers a wide range of courses from Coaching Foundation, Certificate and Diploma courses, Executive and Corporate Coaching courses that are equivalent of an MBA; Certificate in Workplace Coaching, specifically designed for in-house coach training and Child and Adolescent Coach training.
